MG Garage Diorama

This diorama of a MG Model Garage belongs to Chris Brown and was produced by someone on the Reef some years back. They were made with various cars as the subject, and were sold commercially in the "Collectables" shops.

Using this as an example, one could easily do the same provided one has enough patience and access to bits and pieces to reproduce the miniature workshop tools, oil cans etc. The biggest hurdle in my mind would be the decision to buy the 1:18 model and partially dismantle it to create what you see in the diorama - a car under repair in an old time garage.

As an observation, I wouldn't like to lift an engine out of a car using a single chain pulley as we see in this picture!
